

GLOBAL SECURITY INSTITUTE

www.gs institute.org

The Global Security Institute is very pleased that Newsweek running this article by its President Jonathan Granoff. The leaders of Russia and the U.S. while in power have a duty to protect the global commons such as the rainforests, the climate and the oceans and to work to lower the threats posed by nuclear weapons and negotiate in good faith to achieve universal nuclear disarmament. Regardless of other matters, these duties remain critically important to the survival of humanity.

